Everest Base Camp Tour

Trip Overview

The ride along the Friendship Highway that runs between the Himalayas of Nepal and Tibet taking you to the base camp of mighty Everest

Tibet Everest Base Camp Tour is one of the most popular holidays across the world. The ride along the Friendship Highway that stretches along Trans Himalayan route joining two Nepal and Tibet is the lifetime adventure every traveler craves to undertake.

Journey to roof of the world and North face of Mt. Everest

The journey begins with the cultural sightseeing tour of Tibet's capital Lhasa. The cultural sightseeing tour in Lhasa comprises the visit to majestic Potala Palace, three monasteries of Shakpya Sect Norbulinka, Drepung and Sera monasteries, incredible Jokhang temple and the vibrant Barkhor Square. The prime highlight of the tour now begins to unfold as it begins to hit the road on Friendship Highway. Traversing across Khamba La Pass we come to encounter the exceedingly beautiful Yam Drok Tse Lake. The Tibetan cities like Gyantse and Shigatse that pride on historic and sacred Tibetan monasteries and fortress are worthwhile exploring. The Tibetan landscapes from the acme of 5000m plus passes that we come across frequently are simply magnificent. The major highlight of the trip goes on the off the beaten rugged trails to Rongbuk, the world's highest altitude monastery and simultaneously the Everest Base Camp. Throughout the ride along the Friendship Highway, the Tibetan culture, the awe-inspiring Himalayan and the typical arid Tibetan landscapes and the cool Himalayan breeze will keep on mesmerizing you.

The final section of the trip is not less fascinating as it continues towards the Nepalese border town Kodari via high passes and fascinating Tibetan towns like Zhangmu and Nyalam. On crossing the bridge over Bhote Koshi, the Tibetan guides shall handover all your responsibilities to local Nepalese guides who will escort you to Kathmandu along the adventurous serpentine Araniko Highway.
