Tibet Lhasa Tour

Trip Overview

Ride along the world's highest highway to the Roof of the World, Lhasa

The Overland tour to Lhasa Tibet begins from Kathmandu. Organized for individual travelers and the private groups addressing the budget and preference, the tour prioritizes simple and quality services. En route to Lhasa, we will pass through a few of Tibet's most significant natural and cultural landmarks. Lalung-La pass, a high pass (5200m) offers you best view of Mt. Shishapangma and more trans Himalaya range. At Tingri, travelers get a glimpse of northern side of Mt. Everest. Shigatse, Tibet's second largest city and home to the throne of Panchen Lama, Gyantse, The ancient trading hub of Tibet, where the East and West converged in a bustling ancient metropolis. Kamba-La glacier, Yam Druk Tso (Lake), the largest fresh water lake in Tibet, named Turquoise Lake for its crystalline waters and heartbreakingly beautiful highlights of the road journey along the Friendship Highway.

The tour also incorporates a two-day cultural excursion in Lhasa. During these two days, the group will visit the Potala Palace (the residence of Dalai Lama), the Norbulinkha Palace (the summer residence of Dalai Lama), Jokhang temple and Barkhor Square, Sera Monastery and Drepung Monastery. Finally, you will be escorted to the Gonggar Airport for your exit out from Lhasa (either to Kathmandu OR to any other city of mainland China). Alternatively, it is possible to ride the world famous train over the Roof of the World. From Lhasa, the train reaches Chengdu, Beijing, Shanghai, Xian, Xining etc.

All Tibet Travelers with unique or specialized agendas can easily participate in this tour due to the flexibility of arrival and departure locations. It is possible to head to mainland China after finishing the tour in Lhasa, fly back to Kathmandu or any other destination in the world! We make one group permit for all traveler, but different group visas, so once the individual finishes the tour in Lhasa, they can simply separate with others and travel freely as they desire.
